

3.6 Object Graphics

Regardless of whether they are being used to represent real-world features, provide additional information that describes those features, or provide metadata about the drawing as a whole, objects shall use graphics that meet the following requirements: