

2.4.2 Local Files

Revit automatically creates and names a local file when opening a project central file and saves it to the user's computer. Delete the local file at the end of each work day and create new one the next work day to maintain a well-functioning central file.